

Text :"Eating out"

"Claude's kitchen" isn't very large, but the food is good. Claude Boulet does the cooking, and the menu includes a lot of New Orleans French favourites. When I was there, I had a tasty mixture of steak and fish is cooked in a heavy pot. I thought it was delicious.

For dessert, I had "apple surprise", a mixture of cooked apples and dough. It was too sweet for me.

Claude has different kinds of coffee and my espresso was a perfect end to a good dinner.

"Claude's kitchen" located 311 Bowbon Street, is open for dinner every evening until 10.00, Tuesday to Sunday.

The restaurant gets very busy, so be sure to make a reservation before you go.
